

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

RICHMOND society is much interested in the wedding of P. M. to-day of Miss Louise Atkins, daughter of the late Judge Thomas Stanley Atkins and Mrs. Ellen Prior Atkins, to Dr. Fletcher Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Montfort Fletcher Jordan, of Norfolk, Tenn. The ceremony will be performed in Monumental Episcopal Church, the pastor, the Rev. James M. Morris, D. D., officiating.

Mrs. Henry S. Hotchkiss, sister of the bride, will be of honor, and Mr. E. Leland Taylor, of the University of Virginia, cousin of the groom, the best man. Other attendants will include Messrs. R. Marshall Price and Armstrong Dobie, University of Virginia, Lloyd R. Freeman, Norfolk; Henry S. Hotchkiss, Richmond; Dr. Hugh M. Page, Dr. Burns, Norfolk; Messrs. Charles C. Brent, Lexington, Ky., and Charles W. Hopkins, Montgomery, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Hotchkiss will entertain the bridal party at the Jefferson after the ceremony.

In Honor of Miss Young.

Mrs. Charles J. Faulkner, wife of former Senator J. C. Faulkner, of West Virginia, is giving an anti-nuptial party in honor of her niece, Miss Mattie Beverley Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Young, of Hampton, whose wedding to Mr. Spencer Lane, of Williamsburg, has been announced for Wednesday, October 21st, at 5 P. M. in St. John's Episcopal Church, Hampton. Mrs. Faulkner's guests include the bride-elect, her sister, Miss Lillian W. Young; Miss Kate and Miss Mary Whiting, all of Hampton, and all Mrs. Faulkner's nieces; Mr. Louis Hoffmeyer, of Hampton; the Rev. John E. Ewell, of Philadelphia; Mr. William Bridges, of Hagerstown, Md., and Mr. H. F. Byrd, of Winchester.

The Lane-Young wedding celebration will be a very brilliant affair. Mrs. Faulkner will be of honor and Miss Lillian Young the maid of honor. The six bridesmaids will be from the bride's classmates at school, and many guests from Baltimore, Washington and Richmond will be in attendance.

Norfolk Debutantes.

A list of Norfolk debutantes, as announced in the Landmark society columns of Sunday, are: Miss Kate Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Cooke; Miss Katherine Dickinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Dickinson; Miss Louise Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston; Miss Virginia Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Garrison; Miss Sallie Beaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Beaman; Miss Mary Carrington Galt, daughter of Paymaster and Mrs. Galt, and Miss Anna Johnson.

Maury-Moon.

At the wedding of Miss Jane Bell Moon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Barclay Moon, of Dunbar, Va., to Mr. John Minor Maury, of Plainfield, N. J., on Sunday, October 5th, at 4 P. M., in St. John's Episcopal Church, Norfolk, the bride's sisters will be brides of honor.

The ceremony will be performed in Christ Church, Charlottesville, and the best man will be Mr. Edward J. Burke, of Boston. Other attendants will be Messrs. R. E. Lewis and Charles B. Eddy, of New York; Dr. B. L. Harden, of Washington; Cecil Dabney, W. C. Dabney and Lieutenant Basil Gordon Moon, of Charlottesville.

Pendleton-Dawson.

Mrs. Nicholas Dawson, of Seminary Hill, near Alexandria, Va., has issued invitations for the marriage of her daughter, Maria Mason, to the Rev. William Gibson Pendleton, of Eastville, Va. The wedding will take place Wednesday evening, October 7th, at 8 o'clock, in Emmanuel Chapel, Episcopal Theological Seminary. A number of entertainments will be given before the bride and groom-elect, among them a reception by the Rev. and Mrs. Samuel A. Walker, and dinner by Mrs. Carlyle Herbert-Smith.

Miss Woods-Spencer.

Miss Little Page Woods, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Michael Woods, of Charlottesville, has been appointed division sponsor for the United Sons of Confederate Veterans to the Grand Camp of United Confederate Veterans in Charlottesville, October 20th to 22d. The appointment was made by Division Commander W. G. Pritchard, of Newport News.

Miss Woods is a lovely young girl, and no more fitting selection could have been made by the Sons. She will represent the Virginia Division in a most charming manner.

At Woman's Club.

Miss Katherine Stuart, of Alexandria, talked to the members of Woman's Club last afternoon on the organization of a society to protect the rights of women. A large audience, made up of club members and guests of members, listened with much interest to the strong appeal made by Miss Stuart in behalf of birds and against their indiscriminate slaughter. The organization of the organization of an Audubon Society will be perfected Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the rooms of the Travelers' Protective Association building, Third and Main Streets, when Miss Stuart will meet and talk to all ladies interested in forming such a society.

Club hostesses yesterday afternoon at the tea and coffee tables were Mrs. J. A. Teafrey, Mrs. Stewart M. Woodward, Miss Anne Archer and Miss Frances Munford.

To Address Woman's Auxiliary.

Miss Irene Mann, recently returned from mission work in Japan, is spending a few days of her vacation in Richmond, and will talk to members of Woman's Auxiliary at the Episcopal Church, and to the Junior Auxiliary members in the lecture room of Grace Episcopal Church this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended.

A cold bath can be taken at any time of day; but the best time is before breakfast.

A hot bath should be taken only at night—just before retiring.

Cover the body with Ivory Soap lather and rub it in. By doing this, you not only cleanse the surface of the skin, but you also cleanse the pores, which is equally important.

Ivory Soap
99 1/2 Per Cent. Pure.

J.B. Mosby &amp; Co.

Our Big Silk and Dress Goods Department'sSpecial
Fair Week Offering of

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY French Novelty Dress Patterns, in exquisite silk and wool mixtures; HALF WOOL, but they're as LIGHT WEIGHT AS ALL SILK; HALF SILK, but they're as DURABLE AS ALL WOOL. The color range includes almost every color; the shade range includes morning, street, and evening wear shades. Venerable wear shades, theatre wear shades, reception wear shades—in fact a shade for every purpose and occasion. Every pattern is EXCLUSIVE, EXQUISITE AND REFINED. They're 44 inches wide; the lengths are from 10 to 19 yards. We imported them to sell for $2.50 yard, but we put them on sale this (Tuesday) morning for Fair Week at JUST HALF PRICE—WERE $2.50 YARD; YOUR CHOICE, PER YARD.

Come Quick and Get the Pick.

The Greatest Black Goods Offer

We Have Ever Made.

50 PIECES All-Wool Black Dress Goods, plain and fancy, 40 to 44 inches wide, worth $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 yard; on sale this morning for FAIR WEEK at 49c yard.

Our reason for this unusual Black Goods offer is that a few pieces among them are slightly imperfect in shade—just a little dull, that's all; however, the shade defect is so slight and the quality is so good that if you see them you'll surely buy them.

($1.00 Grades
$1.25 Grades
$1.50 Grades) Your Choice 49c.

When We Say Bargain It Means a Bargain.

tended to all interested in the subject of missions.

Swecker-Rodgers.

A quiet but very pretty marriage was celebrated in the home of Mrs. James Rider, of Dunmore, W. Va., on Saturday, October 3d, at 4 P. M., when Miss Olivia Virginia Rodgers became the bride of Mr. Christian Benjamin Swecker.

Mr. and Mrs. Swecker will be in Richmond the last part of October as the guests of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Mattern, of No. 2413 Floyd Avenue. They will make their home in Dunmore, where Mr. Swecker is engaged in business.

Personal Mention.

Miss Edna Rufina Brown, of Marion, Va., gave a piano recital and art exhibit in Assembly Hall, Ginter Park, Friday night that was largely attended and a most creditable affair in every respect.

Miss Mamie Harlow, of No. 1623 Monument Avenue, is the guest of Mrs. Edward K. Fox, of Philadelphia, during her visit to Atlantic City and New York before her return.

Mrs. May Conrad Quinn and Miss Doris Quinn, of New York City, are stopping at No. 101 West Main Street.

Dr. Charles S. Venable and family have left Charlottesville, Va., for San Antonio, Texas, where they will have their home in future.

Mrs. Flora Stuart, widow of General J. E. B. Stuart, C. S. A., who, with her granddaughters, the Misses Waller, of Norfolk, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stuart, of Abingdon, Va., in an interview at Marietta, and given the departure from Abingdon the members of Company D, First Virginia Cavalry, called to pay their respects to their old commander's wife. They brought with them the war flag of their company.

Mrs. William H. White and Miss White have returned from a visit to the home of Judge John M. White, of Charlottesville.

Mrs. Lewis Wheat is in town, after

STANDARD OIL ATTORNEYS
COME BACK AT MONNETT

Issue Statement to Show That Company Was Never Connected or Directly Charged With the Alleged Attempt to Bribe Attorney-General.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, October 5.—S. H. Foster, attorney for the Standard Oil Company, to-night issued the following statement, giving the charges of attempts to bribe F. S. Monnett, formerly Attorney-General of Ohio.

"The charge that Mr. Monnett had been offered and had declined a large sum of money to drop his prosecutions against the Standard Oil Company was first made public by one George Rice, in an interview at Marietta, and given to the newspapers on March 3, 1899. The charge at that time received no credence. Mr. Monnett himself was at first reported to have denied the charges, but afterwards made some general intimations that there might be some truth in them. The particulars of the attempt were carefully concealed by him.

"Made Demand of Monnett. "The public press at once began to demand that he name the guilty person or persons, and on March 20, 1899, not having done so, Messrs. Elliott and Kline, on behalf of the Standard Oil Company, wrote him the following open letter:

"New York, March 20, 1899. "Hon. F. S. Monnett, Attorney-General of Ohio:

"On March 4th instant George Rice announced to the public press that a bribe of $500,000, less $100,000 commission, had been offered you to induce you to stop or delay proceedings against the Standard Oil Company, now pending in the Supreme Court of Ohio. "You are reported to have denied entirely at Toledo the Rice story, but by the time you arrived at Columbus, on the evening of the same day, you concluded that the story was true, and accordingly, in various newspapers, on the evening of the 5th instant, you made the statement that the Standard Oil Company, through some 'friends of yours,' had offered you $400,000 to influence your action with respect to the case pending against it and other companies in the Supreme Court of Ohio.

"Reputable newspapers of the State, notably the Cleveland Leader, Toledo Blade and Ohio State Journal, have called upon you to disclose the name of the 'friend' who thus corruptly appointed you.

"You are reported in the Cleveland a visit to her sister, Mrs. Lewis Harvie, of Danville, Va.

Misses Helen and Rachel Scott, of Newport News, are spending the week in Richmond.

Mr. John Minor and daughter, Miss Margaret Minor, and Mr. Taylor Goodwin are among the Charlottesville visitors to the fair.

Mrs. W. S. Copeland and little daughter are spending a short time with Richmond relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Newton will remove from Bristol to Roanoke this month, to make Roanoke their future home.

Mrs. David May, Mr. Irving May and Miss Sylvia May, accompanied by Misses Hannah and Lina Blum, have returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

Miss Elizabeth Wingo has left for Notre Dame School, near Baltimore.

Miss Julia Gardiner Tyler, who has been the guest of Mrs. Charles Bosher in Richmond, has returned to Williamsburg.

Mrs. O. A. Kinsolving has returned from West Virginia, where she has been spending some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoghead and children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John D. Clothier in Richmond.

Miss Mary Davis, who has been the guest of Miss Katherine Geddy, in Williamsburg, has returned to Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

Misses Helene and Rachel Scott, daughters of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Scott, of Hampton, Va., are guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. J. Francis, on Sixth Street, and are among the State Fair visitors.

Mrs. John H. Perkins and Miss Rebecca Perkins, of Staunton, are in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Boykin have gone to Norfolk, and will make their home in that city in future.

the reason given by you for refusing to disclose the name of 'your friend' is an admission that the company does not know the name of the party whom you say it conspired to corrupt you $100,000, and therefore you must have known that the alleged friend made the offer to you without the authority or knowledge of the Standard Oil Company.

"X. In the New York World, on the 9th instant, you are reported as saying that you had written the friend who tried to bribe you that 'you would not expose him until public interest demanded further interview in the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune of the 6th instant, you are reported as saying that 'your friend' had agreed to protect you. The arrangements for protection therefore seem to be mutual.

"So far as any connection of the Standard Oil Company with any attempt to bribe you is concerned, it is totally false. "You have the names, or claim to have, not only of the friend who approached you, but of the party who acted with him, because on the 16th instant you said in the public prints that 'these men were telegraphing you from New York.'

"While nothing in your story has directly connected the Standard Oil Company with the attempted bribery, you have desired the public to assume such connection. We now demand that you give the name or names of the person or persons who made such an offer to you claiming to represent the Standard Oil Company, that we may take steps to quiet this last most vicious of the many false and sensational stories to which you have given currency.

(Signed) "Respectfully," "M. F. ELLIOTT," "VIRGIL P. KLINE," "Attorneys for Standard Oil Company."

"Answer a Rambling Statement. "After waiting until April 1st, a period of twenty-six days, he filed in the Supreme Court of Ohio a document styled a bill of information, this merely a rambling statement that somebody had approached him with a suggestion that there would be at least $125,000 for him if he would agree to discontinue proceedings against the Standard Oil Company. He still named nobody, giving the same reason.

"The attorneys for the Standard immediately filed with the court a motion requiring the attorney-general to name the man who, he claimed, had approached him, and to appoint a disinterested person to investigate and report promptly to the Supreme Court upon the truth or falsity of the charge.

"After waiting twenty-two days he filed a second document, in which he named as 'his friend,' who had attempted to bribe him, Mr. C. B. Squires (who had never in any manner been connected with the Standard Oil Company), formerly of Cleveland, and then of New York. The friend named promptly, and of his own motion, publicly denied the charge, and since its recent return from New York, he has again, and again promptly and emphatically stated that the charge was entirely false. In the signed statement he further said that after the Supreme Court would be the demand of the attorneys for the Standard Oil Company, that the name of the alleged briber be made public, Mr. Squires said to him and told him that he was in a corner and asked the privilege of naming him as the briber.

"Neither of the documents filed with the Standard Oil Company or any of its officers returned to the attorney-general, and the alleged bribery. The amendment simply stated that the said Squires had claimed to have been approached by a person named 'Monnett' certain of the records.

"No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

"Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

"The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

"No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

"Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

No charges having been made upon which it could act, the Supreme Court then, on the 12th day of September, 1899, entered an order that the information filed by the Attorney-General be stricken from the records.

Mr. Monnett has chosen to connect my name with an order preventing his taking further action, which order which he refers has nothing whatever to do with the bribery charge.

The same document also appeared, as emanating from Mr. Monnett, that twenty-three boxes of day books and ledgers had been returned from Orange to spend the winter in Richmond.

that my people have not been unfairly treated. Sincerely yours, Signed) "C. N. HASKELL."

JOINED, BUT DID NOT KNOW

Governor Haskell Explains as to the Citizens' Alliance. MUSKOGEE, OKLA., October 5.—Governor Charles N. Haskell to-day gave out a lengthy signed statement, giving what he says is a true history of his connection with the Muskogee Citizens' Alliance, an organization formed in 1905, to fight labor organizations. The Governor says that he was invited to join a movement "for the purpose of promoting harmony in the town," during a strike in the spring of 1905, and did so. At that time, Governor Haskell says, he had never heard of the Citizens' Alliance. When he learned the true nature of the organization, and that men were barred from membership, he announced his opposition to such an organization, and withdrew therefrom, he says. He further says that he thought until recently that the organization had gone out of existence.

Dr. Carrington Loses Suit.

In the Law and Equity Court yesterday the jury returned a verdict for the defendant against the H. P. Vaughan Automobile Company, finding a verdict for the defendant.

FOUNDERS' WEEK
IS MADE NOTABLE

Quaker City Takes Holiday, and Great Crowds Unite in Celebration.

UNVEIL ROCHAMBEAU STATUE

Vicente de Chambrun Pays Tribute to America—Big Army in Parade.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., October 5.—Business in Philadelphia was practically at a standstill to-day, while the celebration of the 225th birthday anniversary of the city. Probably the greatest throng that ever gathered along Broad Street witnessed the military parade, which called out 20,000 soldiers and sailors of the United States and of the National Guard of Pennsylvania. Major-General Frederick D. Grant, commanding the Department of the East, United States Army, acted as grand marshal of the imposing pageant.

In addition to this first of the variety of spectacular parades planned in connection with the celebration of Founders' Week, there were to-day a number of incidents and events fraught with historic significance. To-night the city is a blaze of light.

Begins With Salute.

The day began with a salute of thirteen guns, fired from each of the warships in the harbor, and the trumpeting of mounted heralds in medieval costumes on the plaza of the City Hall. Events followed fast from that time until 1 P. M., when the long military march began to move down North Broad Street from Susquehanna Avenue. The regulars of the United States Army had the right of the line, and were immediately followed by the battalion of bluejackets and sailors from the North Atlantic squadron.

The second division was composed of the entire National Guard of the State, and at its head rode Governor Stuart and his staff. A third division of the parade was made up of veteran organizations, some troops from New Jersey, and a body brigade. Reaching City Hall, where the crowd was densest, the cavalcade swung around the plaza and into Broad Street again, continuing their march for a mile or more down the straight stretches of this thoroughfare.

The line of march was four and one-half miles in length. It is estimated that nearly eight miles of the footways were covered by the grand procession.

One of the events of the day was of international importance. It was the unveiling of a bronze tablet at the City Hall marking the site of the emplacement of the French army under General Rochambeau, when it halted in this city en route to join General Washington's forces at Yorktown.

Vicente de Chambrun, secretary of the embassy at Washington, represented the French ambassador, and paid a graceful tribute to America.

"This pleasant commemoration," he said "celebrated in the heart of your historic metropolis, wakes the thought of the obstacles and perils which had to be surmounted at the birth of liberty and before its final triumph—a triumph to the everlasting honor of your nation and for the greater glory of humanity. Among the nations, as among individuals, gratitude is the virtue of the strong—of those who, fixed in the knowledge of what they do and what they can do, fear not to lessen the prestige of the present by calling to mind services rendered in the past.